Strawberry Plants

My plants are all grown on my own farm and are fresh dug for every order. Growing plants and berries is my only business and we have a reputation for good plants. It is dangerous business to buy plants that have been in storage all winter. We guarantee that our plants will grow and we will replace any that do not grow. However, we will not be liable for more than the price of the plants.

Plant as soon as possible in the spring. Berries need a full season to grow to make a good fruiting row. The better the soil the better your crop. Everyone is welcome to inspect our plants while growing. We have just installed a new irrigation system that will supply water to every foot of our land. So for better plants and berries get yours from
